The Six "R" Processes of Mourning in Relation to the Three Phases of Grief and Mourning (2)

AVOIDANCE PHASE

- 1. Recognize the loss
 - · Acknowledge the death
 - · Understand the death

CONFRONTATION PHASE

- 2. React to the separation
 - · Experience the pain
 - Feel, identify, accept, and give some form of expression to all the psychological reactions to the loss
 - Identify and mourn secondary losses
- 3. Recollect and re-experience the deceased and the relationship
 - · Review and remember realistically
 - · Revive and re-experience the feelings
- Relinquish the old attachments to the deceased and the old assumptive world

ACCOMODATION PHASE

- 5. Readjust to move adaptively into the new world without forgetting
 - Revise the assumptive world
 - Develop a new relationship with the deceased
 - · Adopt new ways of being in the world
 - Form a new identity
- 6. Reinvest

••• Deb's Model and Personal Perspective on Parental Grief and 'Healing' •••

I 'see' my transformational experience as going deep within my 'heart of hearts' working from the 'inside light out'

My journey involved [and continues to involve] an Interaction of multiple Processes [Intrapsychically, Interpersonally and Intergenerationally] and multiple Dimensions and Tasks [see Table of Grief Models] weaving together and evolving over time ~ anchored and supported by my faith, hope, and love and guided and blessed by healing grace ~ that led to a deeper 'reconciled Integration' of who I am as a unique Individual spiritual being and gave clearer focus to my meaning and purpose in life
